I. The Japanese Educational System

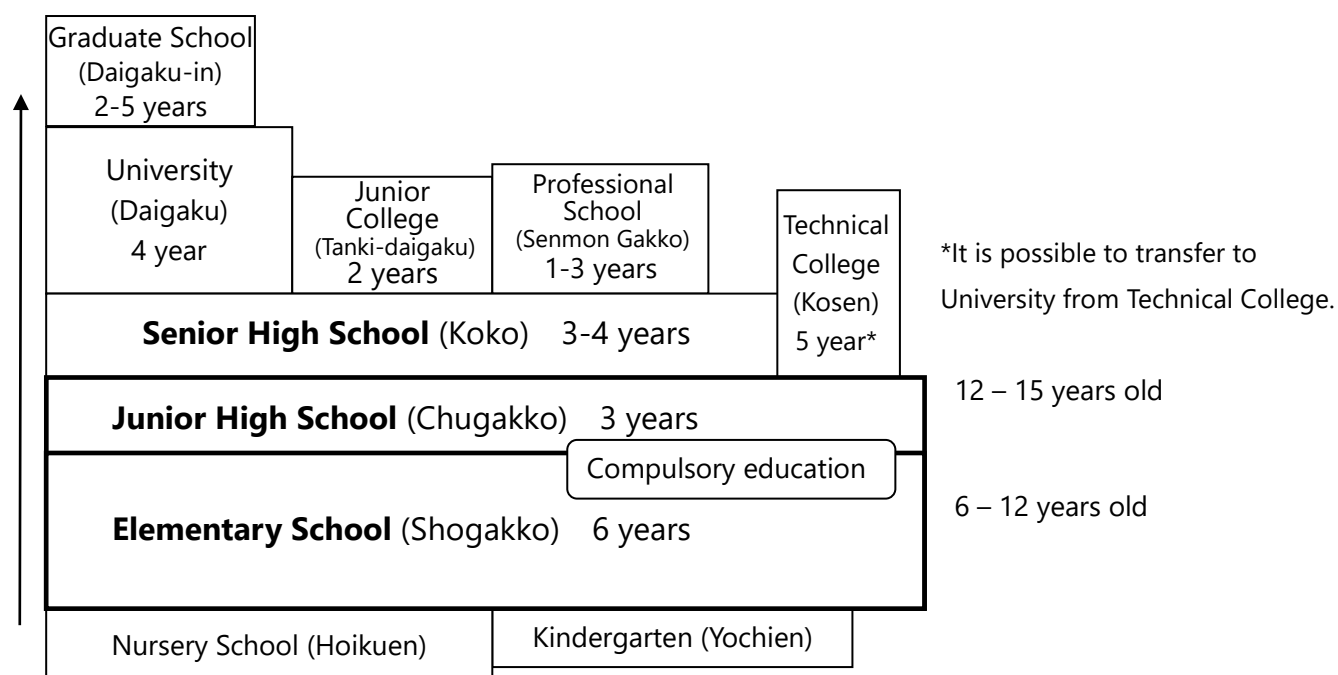

1. The Japanese Educational System

In Japan, more than 95% of the students enter a senior high school, after graduating from a junior high school. Because students who only graduate from a junior high school will have a limited number of jobs and lower possibilities of employment.

To enter senior high school, it is necessary to pass the entrance examination each school gives. Some high schools offer students technical courses to get a job, and others offer academic courses to enter universities. To choose which high school to go means to decide your way to get a job or to go to a university after graduation. Therefore, when you choose a high school to enter, you should consider well about your possibility and your course of life in the future and talk with your family and your teachers.

In elementary school and junior high school in Japan, there is no grade failure. But in high school, the student will not be promoted or will not be able to graduate when grades are not satisfactory, or the number of absent days passes a certain number.

Now more than 50 percent of high school graduates enter university, and about 80 percent go to upper schools including junior colleges and professional schools. Their choices of work and qualification will be broaden when they complete their university degrees.

2. Who can take the entrance examination?

Anyone who is over 15 years old on April 1st of the year of high school entrance and satisfies one of the three requirements:

- 1) Anyone who has graduated from a Japanese junior high school or will graduate from it in March.
- 2) Anyone who has finished 9th years of education in a foreign country.
- 3) A student who has graduated from an international school such as Brazilian school is not admitted as a candidate in Shizuoka prefecture. They need to pass the "Junior High School Graduation Equivalency Exam" (Chugakko sotsugyo teido nintei shaken), held annually in late October.

As for the details of the examination, please ask "Special Education Support Section". Tel: 054-221-2942

II. Varieties of Senior High Schools

Depending on how far the students are eligible a school, there are three choices of high schools.

Each high school has its own guide brochure named "Gakkō-Annai".

Please ask each high school or your junior high school teacher to get it.

1. Gakunen-sei (Yearly advance) and Tani-sei (Credit-based)

Gakunen-sei (Yearly advance) takes the same school-year system as Junior High Schools. Students promote to a higher grade year by year as 1st grade, 2nd grade, then 3rd grade.

In Tani-sei (Credit-based), students earn credits ("Tan-i") based on their learning hours in each subject. Students need to earn defined amount of credits in 3 or 4 years.

2. Varieties of Courses

FUTSU-KA (regular course)

Students mainly learn general academic subjects (KYO-TSU-KYOKA) that make a foundation for knowledge and skills. Each school carries their original feature. While one school offers classes to prepare for entering universities, the other provides class that teaches specialized academic field.

SENMON-GAKKA (specialist course)

Aiming to become a specialist in a specific academic area, students learn specialized knowledge and skills (SENMON KYO-KA) at SENMON-GAKKA. The course has two major types.

In one case, students learn subjects more related to jobs such as agriculture, industry, business, fisheries, home economics, welfare. In another case, students spend more time on learning specified field such as science and mathematics, arts, and international studies. At schools with a agricultural, industrial or business course, students may earn various licenses.

SOGO-GAKKA (general studies course)

In SOGO-GAKKA, students themselves make a choice on which subjects to take according to their interests, abilities, aptitudes, and desired carriers from courses like general academic subjects(KYO-TSU-KYOKA), agriculture, industry, business, or welfare in specialist course (SENMON-GAKKA).

III. The Fees of Senior High School

VIII. About Educational Counseling

A. Educational Counseling in School (Junior High School)

In Japanese schools, there are opportunities for educational counseling in which parents/guardians and teachers exchange information about children's issues.

Topics such as bullying, refusal to go to school, career guidance, etc., can be discussed.

1. Home Visitation (Katei houmon)

The class teacher visits the child's home and discusses the child's life at school and at home with the parent. This is not done at all schools.

2. Parent/Teacher Meeting (Hogosha kai)

Parents/guardians go to school to listen to the principal and/or talk with the class teacher. Topics often relate to study and school life issues common to all the children as a group rather than those of individual children.

3. Three person interviews (Student, Parent, and Class Teacher) (Sansha-mendan)

In most of the Hamamatsu junior high schools, the tri-partite interview is held in July, December, and February (for 1st and 2nd graders only). The tri-partite interview is held among student, parent, and teacher, and they exchange their thoughts, in order to understand the student's future, clarify current objectives, and reach a consensus.

For 3rd graders, the content of the interview is mainly about the plan after graduating junior high. Student will also obtain information on the high school they plan to apply, and what they should do for high school examinations.

If the parent/guardian wishes to be consulted on any day besides the tri-partite interview, they may be consulted on an appointment basis. When necessary, an interpreter will be made available.

4. Individual Interview (Kojin mendan)

This meeting normally takes place between the class teacher and either the child or the parent/guardian. This is a good opportunity to talk about personal problems and concerns.

The date is arranged in advance and advised by the class teacher. At some schools, the dates may be adjustable, and an interpreter may be available for such meetings.

B. Educational Counseling Outside of School

There are other opportunities for educational counseling. Prefecture, municipal, and town boards of education "Kyoiku linkai" provides opportunities to consult about children's education on topics such as special support education for children with disabilities, bullying, refusal to go to school, etc. (See p.22)

Some Prefectural/Municipal/Town governments may have special consultations for foreigners, including a child's educational issues as well as general issues. English, Chinese, Portuguese, Spanish and other languages may possibly be used in such consultations if it is requested ahead of time.
